Working Hard for Harlow

STORM FORCE!

STORM St Jude battered Harlow on Monday uprooting trees, tearing down power lines and causing severe travel delays.

High winds of up to 70mph caused extensive damage across the town bringing down up to 45 trees and ripping roofs from buildings.

The metal roof fencing on Harlow Playhouse came loose and the surrounding area and taxi rank had to be cordoned off while Harlow Council contractor Kier Harlow repaired the damage.

Greater Anglia suspended train services through Harlow during and after the storm causing chaos for commuters.

The train operator was not able to start operating a full service until yesterday as a result of damage to overhead power cables.

Commenting on the Harlow Star Facebook page, Bec Hine said: "Tree fallen onto someone's car in their driveway and resting on the next door neighbours house."

"Everyone is safe though."

The fight is over as judge orders the winding up of Welfare Rights

HARLOW Welfare Rights & Advice has lost its long legal battle with Harlow Council after a High Court judge ordered the winding up of the service.

The order was made yesterday (Wednesday) and ends HWRA's year long battle with the Labour-run authority.

Council leader Councillor Mark Wilkinson said: "This order has been made a year after the contract between the council and HWRA was terminated."

"It has taken this long because of HWRA's conduct and the legal action it has taken, to which the council has had to respond."

"A year during which HWRA's conduct has prevented the council from seeking an alternative service provider for the people of Harlow."

The service was forced to close its doors nearly a year ago when the council demanded £125,000 owed to it by HWRA, rejecting offers of a phased repayment plan including an immediate payment of £60,000.

Cllr Wilkinson added: "The council has not wished to conduct the proceedings in the media and, in any event, it has been constrained by the legal process initiated by HWRA from responding through the media."

"At every stage the council has acted in accordance with the legal advice that it has received. It has worked within the rules and it has respected the requirement for confidentiality."

"It has been scrupulous in its approach to this issue but this has meant that it has not been able to respond to some of the ill-informed and misleading statements that have appeared in the press."

A spokeswoman for the service said they would be unable to respond before the Star went to press, but will be releasing a statement in the coming days.

Accidental death verdict for cyclist

A VERDICT of accidental death has been recorded for a Harlow man who died after losing control of his pedal cycle and crashing into roadside safety barriers.

Chelmsford Coroners Court was told on Tuesday that father-of-three Adam Jacobs, of Northbrooks, died of a brain haemorrhage after coming into contact with a hard surface.

The 36-year-old was found unconscious on a footpath near the junction of Peldon Road and Third Avenue at about 6am on February 15.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital but could not be saved the inquest was told.

Mr Jacobs, a warehouse supervisor for Norbert Dentressangle in Flex Meadow, had been on a cyclepath heading towards a roundabout when he veered sideways and hit the railings. No other vehicle was involved.

Mr Jacobs who was born and raised in Sheerness, Kent, moved to Harlow in 1998. He worked in the chip shop at Slacksbury Hatch for several years before becoming a milkman with Dairy Crest.

Council help for Raytheon staff

HARLOW Council has pledged to support workers made redundant by defence systems manufacturer Raytheon Systems.

Councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for resources and enterprise, said: "The council wishes to offer its support and help to all local employees affected by this decision.

"We are keen to work with Raytheon and their employees to offer support where we can. It is very important that the council, as a community leader, works closely with local businesses in cases such as this to ensure that those affected receive all the support they need."

Last week the US firm confirmed that 51 staff at its Pinnacles base would be made redundant when the manufacturing arm of the business is transferred to Scotland at the end of the year.

The company is currently encouraging employees to apply for internal vacancies of which there are 72.

They have also supplied training such as CV writing and interview techniques.

Raytheon are also hoping to expand in the future to offer more jobs.

TIMBER: Harlow Council received 45 reports about damaged trees like this one in the Rundells

Clean-up begins in wake of storm

THE operation to clean-up the trail of destruction left by storm St Jude has begun.

Dozens of trees were uprooted and properties damaged by the huge storm which hit in the early hours of Monday.

Authorities are now working to repair the damage.

Leader of Harlow Council Cllr Mark Wilkinson said: "I would like to thank those who are working so hard to clear-up Harlow.

"Like much of the south this storm has battered Harlow and Harlow Council and its partner Kier Harlow are working flat out to help get the town back up on its feet and cleared up.

"Clearly work will be carried out on a priority basis and if

residents see any damage please report it to us."

Chainsaw operators are working around the town to respond to fallen trees with priority given to clearing roads and pathways. Many trees came down in the Town Park.

Essex County Fire and Rescue Service have been attending incidents involving downed power lines, roofs and chimneys in precarious positions.

It has also been a week of chaos for commuters as Greater Anglia suspended its rail services and was only able to return to a normal service yesterday.

A Greater Anglia spokesman said: "We have been working closely with Network Rail to ensure that the infrastructure across the Greater Anglia network was available as quickly as possible however it has been a difficult task.

"We are aware that our performance over the last two days has fallen short of your expectations but we'd like to reassure you that we are doing all we can."

There were also problems on the roads as a blocked gully caused the A414 between Harlow and Hertford west-bound to close while an overturned lorry on the M11 south-bound at junction 8 brought more delays.

The environment is important to us. The Harlow Star is printed on paper produced from environmentally managed forests.

Please recycle this newspaperREADERSLETTERS*Have councillors lost the power to hold officers to account?

SIR, Your correspondent of October 10 in a well-informed letter on the closure of the Advice Centre stated: "As far as I can see, the apparent vindictive and clearly short-sightedness of the council has cost the people of this town dearly."

This is confirmed in the same issue by a senior and long-serving councillor who confirms that not only have we lost a nationally respected welfare rights service at a time when it has never been more needed, but also that this has cost the town thousands in legal fees.

He criticises advice given by senior officers and has branded them "vindictive".

Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice has served the people of the town well and they have not been unwilling to take the council to court where it has failed in its responsibilities. Senior officers have not forgotten this and it appears this situation has provided an opportunity to get their own back.

This is not a new response by the council. I recall the Bishopsfield fiasco where again hundreds of thousands of pounds were wasted simply because officers gave wrong advice and when I successfully took them to the Ombudsman they simply dug in until they were faced with court action, which cost the ratepayers dearly.

The main scandal of this episode is, however, the apparent inability of the elected councillors to hold officers to account. It was difficult enough when the council had some semblance of democracy but under the cabinet system local councillors have lost much of their power to scrutinise both policy and its implementation by officers.

As I understand it, other senior councillors have requested information which should be available to all residents and have been unsuccessful even with the existence of the Freedom of Information legislation.

I have written to the chief executive myself to request details of the legal cost of the council action and the estimated cost of member and officer involvement, details including the cost of any alternative welfare rights provision the council has put into place to meet residents' needs and an estimate of the loss of funds previously made available to the town through HWRA by outside agencies.

This is information which should be known to all those entitled to vote in next year's elections.

Dennis Nadin
Willowfield, HarlowLabour members should have declared an interest in vote

SIR, Harlow Council's planning committee has approved plans for a new Lister House to replace the outdated, expensive to run facility on Southern Way. Unfortunately there is controversy over the finances.

Elsewhere, surgeries are owned by doctors but in Harlow the Harlow Health Centres Trust owns most of ours and doctors are tenants. Recent figures show the value of the trust's centres to be £24m with £2.5m held in cash.

Last week the council's cabinet approved the release of council land for the new centre by agreeing a swap for the land the old Lister House stands on. That looked fine until, tucked away in the report, is that £500,000 of council taxpayers' cash also goes to HHCT.

Conservative councillors asked why a well-

WHAT a whopper! Reader Andy Ling, who sent in this photograph, writes: "I found this large wasp in my garden in Harlow. Has anyone else reported them in the area? It was huge, approximately 4.5cm long!"

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high-resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

heeled trust like HHCT would need this cash injection. No answer.

But that's not the end. Before councillors vote on anything they must, by law, declare whether they have a personal or financial interest in the matter. So we asked why no Labour councillor voting on this declared an interest. Indeed, when asked to do so, they refused.

The reason for our question is that most or all HHCT trustees are active Labour Party members, including a former Harlow MP, a recent election candidate, a former leader of Harlow Council and a former councillor who was their press officer during the last General Election.

The council's legal officer warned that it would be appropriate for councillors to declare an interest if they had a close relationship with any person or organisation involved. At best, Labour councillors should have declared a personal interest which would not have prejudiced them voting.

Now it is probable, had Conservative councillors been voting on this, we would have approved it, maybe including the £500,000 payment, but we would have ensured absolute transparency as to why this payment was necessary and whether any one of us had any relationship with the body receiving it.

Cllr Tony Hall (Conservative)
Kingsdon Lane, HarlowYouths shining a laser light pen forced me to brake sharply

SIR, Could I please ask drivers in Sawbridgeworth to take extra care this winter as this week when driving near Bullfields I had to brake suddenly as a group of kids were shining a green laser pen into my eyes.

Whilst it may be acceptable to try and prevent a footballer from scoring a penalty with one of these legal laser pens, I don't think it is reasonable behavior to try and force drivers to have a fatal head-on collision.

This is now a police matter and hopefully those responsible will be tasered before any blood is spilled.

name and address suppliedWhy will roadworks at station roundabout take six months?

SIR, I don't believe it. Six months to revamp the Burnt Mill roundabout? (Star, October 24).

I can only assume that only one man and his dog will be working on it. What is Essex County Council playing at? Don't tell me the traffic is the problem; we all know what the M25 is like.

I have been travelling the M25 for a number of years now whilst the increased lane work has been happening. At one time they completed a four-mile stretch in that time.

name and address suppliedNew council houses must not be for the benefit of outsiders

SIR, It is okay building new council houses in Harlow but on one condition. These houses are built for the sake of the people of Harlow and not for outsiders or new members of the European community.

Another thing; if Harlow Council is going to build these houses, why the hell are our children's centres under threat of closure? Surely it's more feasible to keep the children's centres open because there is not enough for the youth of Harlow to do now, never mind when these centres close.

Dan Long
Bush Fair, HarlowScottish by-election result was yet another disaster for UKIP

SIR, Followers of the fortunes - or rather the misfortunes of UKIP - will have noted that in the Dunfermline by-election for the Scottish Parliament, the Scottish organiser for the party got a mere 908 votes out of a total of 24,200 cast. He came fifth and lost his deposit.

This is the second time UKIP have lost deposits in recent Holyrood by-elections. Yet Mark Gough assured Star readers (Letters, October 17) that with more money and foot soldiers to challenge the larger parties, the fortunes of UKIP were changing and they are now a growing force.

My advice to Mr Gough is stop dreaming and concentrate on the bus tickets.

David Pugh
Cope Hill, HarlowWe pay taxes to keep our roads in a reasonably safe condition

SIR, Further to my recent letter regarding the giant potholes in Lutton Common Road, I finally heard from Essex Latton Services after waiting over three months.

They inform me they are endeavouring to provide me with a liability decision as soon as possible, which is just completely ridiculous! This road is in a terrible state and has been for ages.

People who pay for road tax and/or council tax surely have a right to expect the roads to be kept in a reasonably safe condition, not a delapidated mess as this one is.

Victoria Clifton
Ayletsfield, HarlowMy son's lost purse shows that money comes before morality

SIR, My young son lost his little purse at a local supermarket. He had dropped it somewhere in the store and it had his birthday money in it. The purse had not been handed in and I was thinking that the person who found it would have known it was a child's purse. It seems that money comes before morality these days for some people.

Is it that important for somebody to keep purses or wallets that are found rather than to do something kind. Whenever myself or my children have ever found anything valuable, it goes straight to the police station.

Paralympian gets inspiration award at the BEEFTAs

PARALYMPIAN Anne Wafula-Strike has a new trophy for her cabinet after scooping the BEEFTA Inspiration Award.

The BEEFTA (Black Entertainment Film, Fashion, Television and Arts awards) Awards honour the best showbiz and entertainment personalities in black and ethnic communities.

The wheelchair-bound athlete, who works with disabled rights charities in the UK and Africa, said: "I was so excited that I didn't really know what to do. I was very humbled."

"I cannot quite believe I have won it, it was an incredible night to be a part of and it was just good to be celebrated."

"One of the best things about the award is that it can help shed more light on the great causes I am lucky enough to be a part of."

Anne added: "When I receive an award I always think what can I do with this to help make people's lives better either through promoting or working with a charity or by inspiring somebody else."

"To me the legacy is the most important thing which is why I am humbled to receive something as special as a BEEFTA."

WINNER: Anne Wafula-Strike proudly shows off her BEEFTA Inspiration Award

Halfon scoops top MP award

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has been named Politician of the Year by employment and training provider Avanta.

Avanta present the award to an MP who has made an impact in the debate about skills policy.

The Conservative MP was given the annual award for his work promoting apprenticeships and vocational studies as well as hiring his own parliamentary apprentices - the first MP to do so in a Westminster office.

Mr Halfon, who has employed three Harlow College apprentices, said: "Receiving this award was a huge honour and it is great to know that my campaigns on vocational education have been so well received."

Two arrested after building site crash

TWO people have been arrested after an accident at a building site in Harlow.

Police are now appealing for witnesses following the single vehicle collision in Carters Mead where a black Volkswagen Golf was in a collision with fencing on a building site. The car was left at the scene.

Officers were contacted at 11.20pm on October 24.

A 42-year-old man and a 34-year-old woman from Harlow were arrested on suspicion of drink driving and failing to stop.

They have been released on police bail pending further enquiries until November 14.

Police are asking witnesses to contact Pc Laura Shelley at Harlow Police on 101.

Proposed M11 junction aims to ease traffic

PROPOSALS for a new junction on the M11 have been shown to Harlow's business community.

Strategy and engagement manager at Essex County Council, David Sprunt, was invited to hold a pre-consultation meeting with Harlow Chamber of Commerce.

Junction 7a of the M11 will be located to the north of Harlow and will provide link capacity improvements along Gilden Way, dubbed the Harlow Eastern Access, and aims to reduce congestion in the town. The plans also take into account housing forecasts for Harlow, Epping Forest, Uttlesford and East Hertfordshire as well as the Harlow Enterprise Zone.

Speaking at the meeting on Tuesday, Mr Sprunt said: "If there are any issues on the M11, Harlow tends to ground to a halt and a new junction would stop that happening."

"This is future-proofed so this could form the first part of a Northern Bypass or even for networks to homes to the east of Harlow."

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"There is a future with junction 7a and that is important."

"We are looking at the bigger picture with junction 7a and the impact it will have not only in Harlow but surrounding areas."

"We have put a lot of thought and work into this and have considered all the housing forecasts as well as the Enterprise Zone in Harlow which would need a new M11 junction."

The consultation for junction 7a is due to start in the first week of December. Early estimated costs of the new M11 junction and link road total £40m.

"There are still lots of things that we continue to look at," Mr Sprunt added.

"The public consultation and information in December will help us develop those parts of the scheme that are creating issues or concerns."

Blockbuster back in administration

DVD rental chain Blockbuster is to go into administration for a second time, says its owner private equity firm Gordon Brothers Europe.

Blockbuster, which has a store in Staple Tye, Harlow, collapsed for the first time in January after losing business to online firms streaming films over the internet as well as offering rentals through the post.

It was sold to Gordon Brothers Europe in March this year.

The firm said there would be 32 redundancies at Blockbuster's UK headquarters, but its remaining 264 stores would continue to trade while a buyer was sought.

Blockbuster employs around 2,000 staff nationwide and is one of several high street shops, including Comet and Jessops, to come under pressure due to increasing competition from online retailers.

Sharing is caring for primary school pupils

CHURCH LANGLEY PRIMARY
Pupils collected food for the school's festival of sharing and donated it to Harlow Foodbank.

Youngsters collected more than two shopping trolleys worth of food which will provide the foodbank with enough food for 10 days.

A spokeswoman for the school in Church Langley Way said: "This half term our whole school has been learning about values such as respect, honesty, kindness and sharing. To finish this off we held a festival of sharing.

"The whole school came together to sing songs, read poems and proverbs about the importance of sharing and the vital role the foodbank plays within the town in front of parents, grandparents and friends.

"The children performed brilliantly; they sang their hearts out and read with a great deal of confidence to such a large audience.

"Staff were all very proud of the children and delighted to see such a large turnout for the event; we are very thankful for their generosity."

Students take part in fight against litter

ST ANDREWS JUNIOR SCHOOL Pupils teamed up with McDonalds at Staple Tye and Epping Forest Council to clean up a field near the North Weald school.

They equipped themselves with bin bags, gloves and litter pickers to collect as much rubbish as possible from a recreation ground by their school.

The litter-pick was held to teach the children how to treat the environment with respect.

Barbara Cox from McDonalds said: "The litter pick went really well and the children absolutely loved it. They were really pro-active and we collected lots of litter. "We just want to make students in junior and senior schools aware of litter and how to treat their community with the respect it deserves."

Fearless pirates spotted at Freshwaters

FRESHWATERS PRIMARY ACADEMY Pupils dressed up as terrifying pirates for the school's themed day.

Youngsters at the School Lane primary created pirate dummies, learned semaphore and took part in a treasure hunt by using co-ordinates to find their booty.

Headteacher Michelle Hughes said: "We like to hold at least one themed event each term. It really helps to spark the children's imagination and to give their lessons purpose.

"They are excited about what they are going to learn next on days like this. They also have fun while they are learning."

Two more Harlow residents celebrate their century

CELEBRATIONS are in order for two Harlow residents who have turned 100.

Constance Friedell, above left, who put an advert into the Star asking for no gifts or fuss, celebrated her 100th with friends and family at the Green Man, Old Harlow.

Constance, who worked as a midwife, nurse and health visitor, moved to Harlow in 1998 after living in California and Nigeria.

Daughter Heather Cooch said: "She is quite an active lady and still goes to an exercise class every Monday morning. She's fit and healthy considering her age."

Doris Smith, above right, who lives near Churchgate Street, has four sons, nine grandchildren and several great grandchildren. She celebrated her 100th with an open day for her neighbours and will also be celebrating with a family party on Saturday.

Daughter-in-law Margaret Smith said: "She had a wonderful birthday with 40 people popping in and she was overwhelmed with the well-wishes."

"It's been lovely and I know she's very much looking forward to Saturday's celebrations with the family."

Teen jailed for rape of 15-year-old

A TEENAGER was this week starting a five-year jail sentence for raping a young girl in Harlow.

Cameron Smith, 18, was caught after his victim recorded their conversations on her mobile phone.

Smith was convicted last month of six out of the nine sex offences – two of them rape – he was accused of carrying out on the girl. Sentence was adjourned until last Thursday but he was warned he faced jail.

During the trial at Chelmsford Crown Court prosecutor Diana Pigot told the court of a recording made by the girl after he had carried out a number of sex assaults on her.

"On September 21, 2011 she told him she didn't want things like that to happen and she told him to stop on a number of occasions," said Miss Pigot. "She recorded on her mobile phone what was happening for one-and-a-half minutes and repeated: 'I want you to go,' and 'get out'".

However, Miss Pigot said that instead of going Smith urged the girl to do more things.

Smith, of Broadley Terrace,

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Waltham Abbey, who denied the offences, claimed the voice on the recording was not him.

Passing sentence Judge David Turner branded Smith's behaviour as "depraved" and told him: "Rape is a grave crime in all circumstances."

The judge said that at the time of the offences the girl was 15 and Smith was 16.

"Effectively I'm sentencing a child for offences on another child," he said. "The mobile phone recording played during the trial made chilling listening as the sexual exploitation unfolded."

Jane Gow, representing Smith, said: "The court will feel sympathy for the victim but also a degree of sadness for the position he finds himself in."

Smith was also placed on the sex offenders register indefinitely, given a six-year sexual offenders prevention order and banned indefinitely from contacting the girl.

Betty's blankets raising cash for Help for Heroes

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TALENTED fundraiser has put her skills to good use and raised £1,000 for armed forces charity Help for Heroes.

Betty Salisbury, pictured, who turns 90 in February, has been selling her crocheted and knitted blankets, scarves and other home pieces to raise money for the charity.

She sold her last blanket to reach her £1,000 fundraising target earlier this month.

Her daughter-in-law Mandy Salisbury said: "She was so happy to reach her total."

"She's such a charitable lady and we're all very proud of her."

"She used to raise money for the Royal British Legion. Her and her husband Bill did a lot of fundraising, they used to organise dances and garden parties and this just followed on from that."

"She has done it for the heroes since the war; she has always tried to help good causes."

Betty, of Upper Park, has made more than 120 blankets which she has sold to raise money for charity or given to good causes.

The kind-hearted grandmother has also created blankets for St Clare Hospice, who cared for her son Mick, and the Royal Lifeboat Brigade.

As well as helping charity, Betty has created a blanket, each one 49 squares wide and long, for each newborn in the family, from children to grandchildren.

Her blankets are fondly known by her loved ones as Betty's Blankets.

Mandy added: "She is a lovely lady. Everybody in the family has a blanket, she has made them for everyone - we call them Betty's Blankets."

"She also attends a craft and sewing club every Wednesday with her granddaughter-in-law and she has taught three or four ladies there how to crochet. She's a very charitable lady, it's the type of person she is."

HomeStart host first charity quiz

A QUIZ Night organised by charity Home-Start Harlow raised £500 for the scheme that provides support for young families.

The Quiz Night, which was held at St John's ARC in Old Harlow, was the first of its kind for the charity.

Home-Start Harlow trustee and organiser, Wendy Beckett, said: "It was a bit nerve-racking, never knowing for sure who or how many people would turn up."

"People were very generous and we were lucky to have some great raffle prizes from the Garden of India, Caroline Mitchell Hair & Beauty, Mayfield Bakery, Harlow Dog Stadium and Home-Start supporters."

Fundraising group take on the rapids

THE Derwent Centre in Harlow has set up a group to raise funds for the mental health service.

The Friends of the Derwent Centre also hope to raise awareness of mental health problems to help reduce the stigma around it.

On Wednesday, 27 staff members will be taking on the rapids at the Olympic White Water Centre in Waltham Cross.

The group hope to raise £1,000 with part going towards making a special Christmas for users who cannot go home.

The remainder of the cash will go towards activities for service users.

To sponsor the Friends of the Derwent Centre, text KAYA46 and the amount in pounds to 70070 or call (01279) 827264.

College spreads Christmas cheer

STUDENTS and staff at Harlow College got in the Christmas spirit by filling more than 30 boxes for the Samaritan's Shoebox appeal.

The Vocational Business team which is made up of students from all years and levels, managed to fill 37 boxes with toys, stationary and toothbrushes for young girls and boys in need - exceeding their target to complete 15 Christmas boxes.

The Samaritan's Shoebox appeal, Operation Christmas Child, is an annual appeal that has helped more than 100 million underprivileged children.

Business' golf day raises £2,000 for PAH

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital has received a generous donation of £2,000 from a business' successful golf day.

Design and Printing company Smart Inc, who are based in Hoddesdon, chose PAH to benefit after the owners Peter and Helen Smart came into contact with the hospital when their nephew Caleb Oxbey passed away in May 2008 when he was just three days old.

The £2,000 donation will be used to refurbish The Star Bereavement room, based in the Maternity Unit at the Harlow hospital, which is used by families whose baby has died.

Andrea Brewis, Bereavement Advisor from PAH, said: "We are extremely grateful to Peter, Helen and all at Smart Inc for their generous donation which will enable us to improve the bereavement suite facilities within the maternity unit."

"We want to offer parents as much comfort and care as we can when they are in this difficult situation."

CELEBRATION: From left, Leah Stretford, Ryan Stretford and Jake Summerlee tuck into some spicy food at Occasio House

Young people celebrate Black History Month

OCCASIO House celebrated Black History Month with music, creative workshops, cookery lessons and talks. Activities included African drumming and jewellery making.

The East Thames' Harlow Foyer built on the success of the Love Music Hate Racism gig at The Square with proceeds donated to Welfare Rights and Advice Centre.

Organiser and support worker Zak Cochrane said: "Throughout history there has been a lack of awareness of the role black people have played. We celebrate Black History Month at Harlow Foyer to increase awareness. "We planned this year's activities by working with the Foyer residents to find out how they wanted to celebrate."

Council vows to fight youth cuts

PARTY politics were put aside as councillors vowed to fight against proposed cuts to Harlow's youth services.

Members of Harlow Council agreed at a meeting last Thursday to unite in a bid to protect the services which include employment workshops, play groups and the youth council.

Councillor Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and citizenship, put forward a motion to protect the youth service from proposed cuts which would save Essex County Council £3m.

Cllr Toal said: "We cannot fail our young people and

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

downgrade the services they need.

"I am shocked that Essex County Council has put on the bottom of the list, our young children."

Cllr Toal criticised the consultation process as youth workers were told they were leaving before the process had begun.

She said: "I feel this is not a deep and meaningful consultation."

Leader of Harlow Conservatives, Cllr Andrew Johnson proposed an amendment to include all councillors not just the ruling Labour administration.

He said: "This is about protecting Harlow. I have to fight for Harlow and Harlow's young people."

"This is not about the blues versus reds, it is about Harlow against the rest of the county."

"We think that Harlow's youth services need to stay open."

Members voted unanimously in favour of the motion.

A protest against the proposed cuts will take place outside Essex County Council's offices in Chelmsford tomorrow at midday.

Thousands to attend annual fireworks show

The event is expected to attract around 15,000 visitors.

The night's celebrations will begin from 5.30pm with a funfair and the Heart 101.7 roadshow.

Fifth Avenue between the Sainsbury's roundabout and Edinburg Way will close at 5.15pm and reopen at 8.30pm.

Christmas Parties

Have you booked for the festive season?

THE office Christmas party is not only good for team building and staff motivation, it is as much a great British tradition as presents and the Queen's Speech.

Locally we have some fabulous venues where you can host your event. Whether you're looking for a simple meal or a full blown party, there's plenty to choose from.

If you've offered to organise this year's office Christmas party and are looking forward to it or are filled with terror at the responsibility, now's the time to get organised and arrange the event!

Whichever way you look at it, organising the annual Christmas bash for your colleagues is a task and a half. You need to achieve the balance of making sure everyone enjoys it and giving the company a chance to say thank you for the staff's hard work and commitment over the past year.

Before you start looking at venues, it's worth running through this checklist:

- Will it be a lunch or an evening event?
- When do you want your event to take place - midweek or weekend?
- Is December the best time for your business or would January be a more viable option? Many companies hold their Christmas party in January, not only because of work pressure in their own business but also it's often better value for money.

• Look at past Christmas parties. What were the best and worst? Learn from any mistakes and build on the successes.

• Does the boss want an exclusive venue solely for your group where they can make a speech or are you looking to let your hair down with all the trimmings and formalities taken care of in a larger venue?

• What kind of event did you have in mind? Is the plan a few drinks, something to eat and then dancing... or something different?

• Do you need to arrange transport to and from event and more importantly how will you all get home afterwards?

• Don't forget to keep within budget!

Man fined for attempted theft of screw

A HARLOW man who tried to take a screw from the number plate of an unmarked police car to repair his own vehicle has been fined by magistrates.

Desmond Dodge,

38, of Jerounds, was fined £10 by magistrates after pleading guilty to attempted theft.

Chelmsford Magistrates' Court was told that Dodge was in his VW Golf when he noticed that his number plate was dragging on the ground.

Dodge, formerly of Spring Hills, pulled in behind a car parked in Brambles Green Lane, Nazeing, not realising that a Met Police detective was sitting inside it.

Dodge also admitted driving not in accordance with a licence and was fined a further £27 with £60 costs.

TRIBUTE: Stewards Academy students from tutor group 9CH with Dr Abdul Shakoor at the memorial bench and tree for Hira Shakoor, who died in the Barn Mead fire last year

Money raised in memory of Hira

STEWARDS Academy welcomed Dr Abdul Shakoor to visit the memorial bench and tree they erected in memory of his daughter.

Dr Shakoor, whose five children and wife died in the Barn Mead fire last year, also spent time with 9CH, the tutor group his daughter, 12-year-old Hira, belonged to.

In memory of Hira, students at the Parnall Road school raised money to support the education of girls in Pakistan during their annual cultural food event.

Headteacher Marie Erwood explained: "Hira was a special girl. She once told me she

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

wanted to be Prime Minister and she had big ambitions so the money we raised will go towards a young girl's education in Pakistan.

"Our cultural food event was fantastic and we raised £400.

"We had over 50 students dressed in national costume and old students and parents visited to bring food."

The school has also become the first school in Harlow to win an inclusion award for the second time.

Ms Erwood and Inclusion Manager Keith Naunton attended a ceremony to collect the Inclusion Quality Mark Award, following a two-day evaluation.

Ms Erwood, who has also won an MBE for her work, said: "The inclusion award is awarded to schools who have shown a lifetime dedication to including all pupils regardless of gender, race, religion, or anything else."

"It is a huge achievement and we are all so proud, especially as we are a flagship school too."

"It's events like the cultural food event and remembering Hira that make me proud of our school and the reason why we won the inclusion award."

Appeal to identify man after bike parts theft

POLICE are appealing for help in identifying a man they want to speak to in connection with the theft of bike parts at Passmore's Academy.

The man, pictured, is described as white, of medium build, about 5ft 11ins tall with dark short hair.

Passmore's Academy headteacher Vic Goddard said: "CCTV gets a bad rap."

"Here's our doing what it should and protecting our children. Help us catch him."

Anyone with information is asked to contact Pc Gemma Sandy on the non-emergency number 101.

Police ask parents to walk to schools

DANGEROUS and careless driving and inconsiderate parking around schools is becoming a problem say Harlow Police.

The police are contacted on a regular basis about inconsiderate drivers around schools.

A Harlow police spokesman said: "Attempts have been made to seek solutions through drivers being threatened with prosecution and issued with fixed penalty notices but the problem persists.

"The problem is not confined to Harlow and is an issue that occurs across the UK but we're asking parents to consider parking away from schools and reducing their speed when driving near a school to avoid accidents."

NOSTALGIA

King's game provides memories of Old Boys

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE town has always been very active in its sporting endeavours and Nostalgia reader Martin Gladwin sent in this picture of his old cricket team.

The photograph, which was taken in 1953, shows the Old Boys cricket team who played at Spicers Field, Old Harlow, which doubled up as a hockey pitch in the winter.

Mr Gladwin, a sports fan who also played football with the Harlow Town team, said: "The Old Boys team was managed by Bert Fish a local greengrocer in Market Street.

"All the players were all-round sportsmen. We played at Spicers Field in Chippingfield, Old Harlow, using an old garden shed 6ft square where everyone, including the opposition, had to change.

"On rainy days it was first come, first served into the shed, the rest had to find shelter in the ditch under the bushes. We also had to share bat pads and things.

"Fixtures were played against local village and works sides. This photo was taken at the Stow, the home ground of Revertex - they had the first and probably only plastic pitch in the country, so flat it was impossible to bowl sides out.

"We often preferred away games, apart from the travelling, as the changing rooms and ground conditions were better, not surprising as it was impossible to roll the pitch in a dry spell.

"Travelling to away games often meant two trips, squeezed into Bert's grocery van. On one occasion Bert picked up myself and my brother Robin off the river bank where we had been fishing."

Mr Gladwin added: "Eight players lived in Broadway Avenue, Mike Batt at the bottom of the High Street, Dick Brown at the Oxleys, Peter Starling at Potter Street, me and Robin in Market Street where my dad, Tommy Gladwin, had a greengrocer and general store called TR Gladwin.

"The ground at Spicers Field doubled as a hockey pitch in winter, which covered the cricket area, and made cricket a bit hazardous. It wasn't surprising that teams preferred to play us at their ground rather than risking a visit to the local doctor.

"Good fun was had after away games by going into the local for a pint or two, with us younger ones tucked in a corner with a shandy."

Royal visit for electronics company

WITH news that Raytheon in Harlow is making redundancies, Nostalgia looks at the early days of the company when it was Cossor Electronics.

It was 35 years ago this month that Cossor were visited by the Prince of Wales on October 19, 1978.

Prince Charles, who arrived in Harlow by a Wessex helicopter of the Queens flight, met with staff and was taken on a tour of the company's engineering and manufacturing areas by Managing Director David Steadman.

The Royal was greeted by excited Cossor staff during his visit which was organised by the National Economic Development Office.

Cossor were bought by Raytheon in 1961.

Did you work at Cossor Electronics or do you remember Prince Charles visit to the company?

HEALTHCHECK

in partnership with Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust

PAH's winter planning is warmly praised

ALL hospitals have to prepare a plan on how they are going to cope with the extra pressures of dealing with more sick and injured people during the cold, dark, slippery days of winter.

Princess Alexandra Hospital is no exception and this year its own plan has won the praise of the Department of Health for being one of the best it has seen.

The hospital has won an extra £4m to put the plan fully into action and ensure everyone in the area gets the best possible care. Last year the hospital was awarded under a million pounds.

The hospital has worked closely with GPs and social care providers at Essex and Hertfordshire County Councils to co-ordinate planning as closely as possible.

Normally the winter months are far busier for hospitals than summer, although this year did not exactly follow that pattern because of the long spells of hot weather across the UK.

Generally, though, in winter more people slip and fall on ice and snow, more road accidents occur in the dark and the elderly and frail become more prone to the cold, winter bugs and nasty infections.

Any hospital's improvement is measured through the key 'Friends and Family' score – patients are asked would they be happy for those close to them to be treated at the same hospital.

Princess Alexandra now has one of the best overall scores in the country and for accident and emergency alone is the best.

County admits local roads need repairs

ALMOST a quarter of Essex's local roads need repairs, according to new figures released by Essex County Council (ECC).

The authority's annual road condition survey looks at how much of the highways network is in need of structural maintenance, broken down by district and priority.

The roads are split into three levels of priority:

- County route (priority 1) – strategic roads with the highest volumes of traffic.
- County route (priority 2) – roads which provide an essential traffic management function between the priority 1 network and local roads.
- Local roads – all other roads maintained by ECC.

The survey shows that four per cent of the county's priority 1 network was classed as requiring structural maintenance as of June 2013, compared with 5.2 per cent in June 2012.

There has been a similar level of improvement on the priority 2 network, with 4.9 per cent of mileage covered requiring structural maintenance in June 2013, compared with 6.4 per cent in June 2012.

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

However there has been a decline in the condition of local roads, with 23.4 per cent of the network requiring structural maintenance, compared with 17.8 per cent last year.

County Councillor Rodney Bass, cabinet member for highways and transportation, said: "The results of this survey are being made available as part of my commitment to being open about the condition of our road network and how we are prioritising funding for improvements.

"I am encouraged by the general improvement to the condition of our priority 1 and 2 roads, as this falls in line with our prioritisation of main roads that carry the most amount of traffic. The slight decline in the condition of local roads is a concern, and I am working with officers to address this.

"Whilst we are doing everything we can to provide continued investment in our road network, we do have to be realistic and recognise that there will be limited funding streams available to us in future. Further information on the work we are doing to improve our road network will be made available over the coming months.

"The information on the condition of the three types of road network is time lagged, and reflects surveys which were carried out in June when much of this year's maintenance had not been undertaken. Hopefully, there will be further improvements next year but much, of course, depends on the severity of the winter."

The survey also looks at the number of outstanding carriageway surface and structural defects across the network. Essex County Council has repaired nearly 17,500 carriageway defects since April 1 this year.

Residents can report and track highways problems online at www.essex.gov.uk/highways. The online service information centre also features a wealth of information on local highways and transportation services.

US zoo shows off its adorable panda cubs

TWIN giant panda cubs have been named on the 100th day after being born in line with Chinese tradition.

Mei Huan and Mei Lun are the first panda cubs to be born in the USA and survive.

Their names mean "something indescribably beautiful and magnificent". More than 51,000 people voted on America's ABC television's Good Morning America website to choose from five sets of names suggested for the pair by staff at the Chengdu Research Base of Giant Panda Breeding in China.

The panda cubs, born in July at Zoo Atlanta, will not be on public view until later this year.

Until then they can be seen live via a webcam on the zoo's website.

Giant pandas are an endangered species that only live in the wild in central China.

TEACHER: Marta Sturt has opened a language school in Harlow

Mum opens language school to help others

A MUM-OF-TWO has set up a language school to help those hoping to start a new life in Harlow.

Marta Sturt, 31, moved to the UK from Poland 10 years ago to study English.

Marta, who is a qualified teacher, began offering English lessons at weekends at Our Lady Fatima Church in Howard Way.

But, after giving birth to one-year-old Freddie, Marta set about opening Prestige Language School as a way to help others and spend more time with her young son.

She said: "I've been teaching at Our Lady Fatima Church and there were so many people who needed language help. But some were good and some were bad so it was really difficult to teach them in one group."

Marta, who also has four year old daughter Lola, said simple tasks like booking a doctors' appointment and opening a bank account where almost impossible for those with limited language skills.

She said: "We offer fully qualified English tuition for adults on all educational levels.

"We can help people build their confidence and improve written and spoken English skills.

"Our emphasis is on a fun-filled

English experience within a homely, friendly atmosphere.

"We will endeavour to meet people's needs and requirements and we will provide people with the opportunity to achieve a world-wide recognised ESOL certificate

"Learning the language is absolutely crucial. People can live here and settle if they want to.

"It can also help them find work."

Marta, who lives with her children and husband Robin in Newhall, has been speaking with Job Centre Plus and hopes to offer citizenship courses in the future.

The school runs classes in the evenings at their premises in West Road.

Programme to help firms grow

A PROGRAMME to help businesses in Harlow grow has been organised by Anglia Ruskin University.

The Supporting Business Growth programme will focus on accessing funding, attracting and developing employees, exploring new opportunities and markets, and managing issues in today's challenging commercial world.

Anglia Ruskin is committed to supporting the growth and is looking to work closely with businesses following the opening of University Centre Harlow, a partnership between Anglia Ruskin and Harlow College, which aims to raise skill levels and increase opportunities for local people and businesses.

Over the coming year, Anglia Ruskin will be organising a series of workshops for employers. A breakfast will be held at University Centre Harlow on November 8 between 8am and 10.30am to launch the programme.

Agency opens a fourth office to help to tackle growing demand

STAFFING agency 2B Interface has opened a fourth branch in Harlow.

To celebrate the opening of the new branch at Harlow Enterprise Hub in Edinburgh Way, the company held an evening of wine, canapés and music.

Managing director and founder Beatrice Bartley said: "2B Interface was set up to help businesses find the specialist tradesmen they require.

"That was 10 years ago – the beginnings were modest and the objectives were simple, but since then, the company has grown beyond my wildest dreams.

"Harlow is the first step towards nationwide expansion and Harlow is the place to be.

"It's a fantastic business hub and a great mixture of small, medium and large manufacturing companies and we want to be a central part of Harlow business life."

Among the attendees at the opening party were Cllr Janice Elliott, mayor of Bishop's Stortford, and Peter Landau, Executive Chairman of the London Business Support Service Ltd and founder and director of Intelligent Dressing Ltd, who was also the guest speaker.

During his speech, Mr Landau provided insight into some of the many businesses that he has advised.

He said: "Beatrice Bartley is a dynamic entrepreneur and there was an air about her when I first met her.

"She knew what she was doing, she knew she'd succeed and no one was going to stop her.

"2B Interface is the most well organised and efficiently run business I've ever seen."

2B Interface has been providing companies with fully qualified trades people and professional staff since 2005.

Since their launch in London, the company has collected numerous business awards recognising their service commitment and results as an employment specialist.

Former soap actress in 50 Shades of Grey spoof

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LOVE, booze and whips are the order of the day when former Emmerdale actress Adele Silva comes to Harlow Playhouse as part of the hilarious spoof comedy Fifty-One Shades of Maggie.

Following sell out shows in Glasgow, Belfast and Dublin earlier this year, the production, based on the best-selling novel Fifty Shades of Grey, is set to become one of the funniest shows to hit the UK stage in years.

The show was initially written by Leesa Harker as a Facebook-based spoof blog of the phenomenally successful book. However it was so well received in its own right that it went viral – reaching tens of thousands of followers in a matter of days – and as a result has been specifically adapted for the stage.

Fifty-One Shades of Maggie tells the story of the loveable Maggie Muff and her search for love.

A working-class girl, Maggie has been let down by all the men in her life. As she attends an interview at the Social Security Office, Maggie meets the handsome and hunky Mr Big, who could just be the man of her dreams... but will his 'Private Room of Pain' put her off?

Plenty of naughty bits along the way make this "ever-so-slightly-filthy" journey of love a must see.

>> Fifty-One Shades of Maggie runs at The Playhouse from Thursday, November 7 to Sunday, November 9.

Tickets are available from www.playhouseharlow.com or (01279) 431945. Over 16s only.

Autumn Gala set to be 'stirring and beautiful'

HARLOW Ballet, following the success of its collaboration with pianist Chris Redman in Les Sylphides and Requiem, is to present its Autumn Gala at Harlow Playhouse.

The Gala will feature the Concerto Project, a new choreographic concept inspired and accompanied by Mr Redman, as well as two pieces by award-winning choreographer Hayley Burns and dances from Esmeralda and the annual choreographic competition.

Harlow Ballet, which was established in 1971, is known for its impeccably high standards in ballet, contemporary and jazz.

The dancers hope to showcase their best moves in what is set to be Harlow Ballet's finest performance yet.

Artistic Director, Michael Branwell, said: "This promises to be a particularly interesting show."

"It is turning out to be very exciting indeed, with some wonderfully beautiful, stirring and moving parts in it."

"It's a magical and varied programme of dance for anyone to enjoy."

>> The Autumn Gala will be running at the Harlow Playhouse on Saturday (November 2) at 7.45pm and Sunday (November 3) at 6.30pm. Tickets cost £13 for adults and £9 for children and are available from (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Students inspire teacher to direct J.B Priestley's An Inspector Calls

THE Victoria Hall Theatre has been transformed into the living room of the Birling family as Harlow Theatre Company take on J.B. Priestley's An Inspector Calls.

Directed by Dolleen Howlett, who is also a teacher, the play will be on stage throughout the school half-term giving students studying the GCSE text the opportunity to see the play in all its glory.

Ms Howlett, who was inspired by her students to take on the play, said: "The show has been going really well and rehearsals went brilliantly."

"Everybody has worked really hard to put this together and lots of hard work is going into every detail."

"Being a teacher and seeing the students' response to the play is what made me really want to bring it to life on stage."

"It is one of the main study texts for English GCSEs and my students have always seemed to enjoy An Inspector Calls so I'm hoping students will see the play and it will help them with their studies as well as being an interesting and entertaining evening for everyone."

An Inspector Calls was written by English dramatist J.B. Priestley. It is considered one of his best works and has been subject to various critical interpretations of Priestley's social critique of capitalism and middle class hypocrisy.

It was first performed in the UK in 1946.

The three-act drama takes place in the home of the middle-class Birling family in 1912 and is set on a single night.

Ms Howlett added: "The message that Priestley is trying to convey to his audience, I think still resounds today, even in this modern world - though the play is set in 1912 it's messages are still very current which makes it a great play to watch."

"It's very exciting to be featuring An Inspector Calls at Victoria Hall, we have been rehearsing since September and this is the first full-length play I have directed so it's exciting for all kinds of reasons."

"It's important to have a good crew behind you and I'm very lucky to have a fantastic team including the actors and those working on sound and lighting."

>> An Inspector Calls is at the Victoria Hall Theatre tonight (Thursday, October 31) and runs until Saturday, November 2 with shows starting at 8pm.

Tickets cost £11 (£9 concessions) and are available from the box office on (0844) 8700 887 or online at www.ticketsource.co.uk/harlowtheatrecompany.

The Guide*GARDENING & PUZZLES

Wrapping up for the winter

I LOOKED out on my patio a few days ago to see a pelargonium I planted back in May coming into flower yet again, at a time when most of my summer pots have been emptied.

Despite a lot of rain, it's been a mild October, and this may lull many of us into a false sense of security about how long we leave it before offering our plants some protection from the winter chill.

As I live in a frost pocket, the pelargonium is going to come under cover soon. If you have pots of pelargoniums (bedding geraniums) which you want to enjoy next year, put them inside too, in a light, frost-free place such as a slightly heated greenhouse, a sheltered porch next to the house or an unheated spare room or conservatory, cutting them back to 10cm (4in). Don't expose them to warm central heating or they'll just wilt when you put them out next year.

Fuchsias, which lose their leaves entirely and spend winter looking like bare sticks, will need the same treatment. You'll hardly need to water them at all until growth resumes in spring, at which point you can repot them into John Innes No 2 potting compost and harden them off before placing them outside when the risk of frost has passed.

Marguerites (Argyranthemums) will also not stand any frost and are best dug up and potted, cut back by half and kept in a dry, cool, frost-free place that has sunlight through the winter, like a cool greenhouse. Water them sparingly to keep their roots dry until spring, when you can start to water them more frequently.

If your garden has a Mediterranean theme, you're likely to need to protect other vulnerable plants, such as cannas, olive trees, ginger lilies and dahlias, which may not survive winter frosts.

Leave dahlia tubers in the ground until the foliage has been blackened by frost, which may be as late as November, then cut the plants down to around 15cm (6in) from the ground and dig up the tubers. Shake off the soil, wash the tubers and turn them upside down so the moisture drains out of the hollow stems. When they've dried off, hang them in nets in a shed or store them in stacking trays with plenty of holes for ventilation.

Cannas need to be cut down before winter and mulched heavily, or dug up and put into pots only slightly bigger than their ball of roots, filling the gaps with compost, and kept in a frost-free place, ideally under the staging in a greenhouse.

Other plants that form tubers such as ginger lilies are best dug up at the end of the season, the top growth cut off with secateurs and then the tubers stored until spring in dry potting compost in a cool, frost-free place like a garage or shed. They can be planted out next year when all danger of frost has passed.

Pots of tender exotics such as citrus, palms and oleander which have graced your patio in summer will need to be moved back under cover, either into a cool conservatory or frost-free greenhouse, and will need to be watered sparingly throughout the winter.

If your tender plants are simply too big to move, then wrapping them in hessian or horticultural fleece may be the answer.

Search for a 'lost' son

PHILOMENA
certificate 12A, 1h38m

AS she approaches her 79th birthday, national treasure Dame Judi Dench looks certain to be gifted a seventh Oscar nomination for her tour-de-force portrayal of a guilt-stricken mother.

It is a compelling performance of deep emotion based on a true story that deftly tugs the heartstrings without resorting to emotional manipulation or cloying sentiment.

Dame Judi is complemented by Steve Coogan as a cynical and world-weary journalist, who initially scoffs at the suggestion that he should pen an article about the matriarch and her heartbreaking ordeal.

But the tender and unexpectedly touching relationship that forms between these two characters from different generations and backgrounds provides Stephen Frears' uplifting film with its emotional thrust as the search for answers moves between continents.

The incredible road trip begins when Jane Lee (Anna Maxwell Martin) discovers her mother Philomena (Dench) fell pregnant as a teenager in 1950s Ireland and was forced to give up the baby to the sisters at Roscrea Abbey. Jane pitches the story to former Labour advisor turned BBC journalist Martin Sixsmith (Coogan).

After a reality check from his wife Kate (Simone Lahbib), Sixsmith agrees to help Philomena track down her boy. Using his connections, Martin takes Philomena to Washington DC to sift through official documents, hoping for a breakthrough to reunite the old woman with the son she never wanted to give up.

Throughout, Philomena clings to her faith, lighting a candle for her child. However, Sixsmith cannot conceal his contempt for religion, telling Philomena: "It's the Catholic Church that should be going to confession, not you!"

Coogan's script, co-written by Jeff Pope, is lean and peppered with earthy humour, whether it be the much abused heroine reliving the ecstasy of her first sexual experience or her encouraging the journalist to jump into the back seat of a rental car.

Dench is magnificent and Coogan jettisons most of his Alan Partridge tics in support, gradually warming to Philomena and her upbeat outlook on life.

Tears flow freely as the eponymous heroine discovers the fate of her boy, seizing upon every nugget of information, no matter how banal, as if she had just won the lottery.

We certainly strike it very lucky with Frears' wonderful picture.

The Jackass pranksters led by clown extraordinaire Johnny Knoxville take their wince-inducing brand of tomfoolery to the next level in Bad Grandpa.

Knoxville endures hours in the make-up chair to metamorphose into his signature character, badly behaved 86-year-old Irving Zisman who starts the film in a hospital waiting room as a female doctor (Kamber Hejlik) approaches nervously. "Your wife passed," the medic tells him solemnly. "I thought she'd never die!" he cackles.

At the subsequent funeral attended by unsuspecting mourners, Irving's heartfelt eulogy is interrupted by his pot-smoking daughter Kimmy (Georgina Cates), who is heading to prison and needs her cranky father to look after her eight-year-old son, Billy (Jackson Nicholl).

Irving soon finds himself on a road trip to North Carolina to deliver the boy to his estranged father. En route, the unlikely double-act terrorises unsuspecting members of the public including a gaggle of women attending a male stripper show.

THOR: THE DARK WORLD
certificate 12A, 1h52m

Superhero Thor (Chris Hemsworth) returns to save mankind in this big budget sequel directed by Alan Taylor.

A year has passed since Thor joined The Avengers in the valiant fight to save Earth. The crown prince of Asgard faces a primal race called the Malekith which intends to destroy the Nine Realms of Norse mythology.

Odin (Sir Anthony Hopkins) and the combined forces of Asgard are unable to repel the onslaught so Thor must descend back to terra firma and reunite with his sweetheart astrophysicist Jane Foster (Natalie Portman), who he abandoned at the end of the first film.

Apologies out of the way, Thor and Jane must embark on a perilous road if they are to defeat the Malekith and, unthinkable, Thor must also rebuild bridges with his nefarious adoptive brother Loki (Tom Hiddleston), who could be the difference between hard-fought victory and crushing defeat.

certificate 12A, 1h31m

Medical engineer Dr Ryan Stone (Sandra Bullock) is on her very first mission aboard the space shuttle Explore. Her commander is veteran astronaut Matt Kowalsky (George Clooney), who's on his final flight before retiring.

But a seemingly routine spacewalk 372 miles above the Earth ends in disaster when satellite debris ploughs into the shuttle. The impact catapults Stone and Kowalsky into the unforgiving blackness.

An eerie silence tells them they have also lost contact with NASA altogether. With a finite supply of oxygen, their prospects seem bleak, but panic and fear gives way to a realisation that their only hope of survival is to work together and travel further into deep space.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries 21 March - 20 April
The accent on career and meaningful goals increases as Venus moves into Capricorn. Compromise, and the ability to see things from another person's point of view, could help you get ahead. A focus on shared resources also reveals potential opportunities to fund an idea or plan. Mercury turns direct at the very end of the week, which may see you finally make progress with money matters. Call for more...

Libra 24 September - 23 October
Early on, the presence of Venus in your home zone can make this a great time for redecorating, DIY projects and also entertaining friends and family, especially over the weeks ahead. However, on the financial front, decisions may be looming. The sooner you can zero in on what needs to be done and start doing it, the less stressful money matters can be. Call for your financial scope...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
The ability to harness someone else's skills and abilities in order to collaborate on a creative project, looks very possible. Whether it's a big or small idea, getting together and creating a plan can lead to possible success. As Jupiter rewards from this week, you can enhance your income by proactively promoting your skills, goods or services. Call for your financial forecast in full...

Scorpio 24 October - 22 November
You may come to some definite conclusions this week, which can spur you on to get things done. There seem to be many opportunities to collaborate with others, and to make useful connections and associations that can be mutually beneficial. Mercury powers forward in your sign late in the week, and from there'll be less delays and hopefully more progress. Call for more advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
There continues to be plenty of activity on the work front, and perhaps a need to make a decision as the Sun links with Saturn. You may come to an understanding about what needs to be done to forge ahead. As Jupiter retrograde in your money zone, it may help to develop an added enthusiasm concerning ways to boost your income. Call for your financial forecast in full...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Venus's move into Capricorn and your relationship zone, may sweeten links with others, and highlight a desire to compromise. However, it's also likely that you may be a lot more businesslike, though also very fair, when negotiating for what you want. As Jupiter reverts in Cancer, it's time to actively seek out any lucky opportunities. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
The focus on domestic matters continues, with a Sun Saturn link inciting you to make a stand on an important issue. However, there are also opportunities to improve your lifestyle, whether by careful budgeting or inspired ideas. Late in the week, Mercury's direct station may end frustration and support positive action concerning family dynamics. Call for more news and astral advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
Your mindset continues to be fairly intense and focused; perhaps even more so as a Sun Saturn connection might push you to make a choice. Venus sashays into Capricorn too, which might add a romantic touch to dating activities or to a long-term relationship. From later this week, life may have a greater sense of flow and direction. Call me now Virgo for your love scope in full...

Capricorn 22 December - 20 January
You may be goaded into a compromise, or pushed to deal with a matter as fairly as you can - once Venus moves into your sign. There also seems to be opportunities for discussion, collaboration and feedback, as you connect with friends or other associates. A plan which has been stop and start, as far as your future goes, finally revs up by the weekend. Call for more news and advice...

Aquarius 21 January - 19 February
Though Jupiter's retrograde motion could cause delays at work or around health appointments, some of the snags which have been troublesome at work, and professionally, can start to unravel. Committing to a course of action could enhance your success rate, as well as being the person prepared to stand up and take responsibility. Call your prediction line for more astral advice...

Pisces 20 February - 20 March
Your social life picks up as Venus sweeps into Capricorn, paving the way for good times with friends, a love interest or partner. However, a Sun Saturn link may push you to take action on a travel or study plan sooner than you had intended. As Jupiter regresses in Cancer, it helps to adopt a can-do approach to creative projects or your romantic musings. Call for your love scope in full...

Tracey Waples Property Editor

TODAY might be the last day in the calendar you would want to make your home look appealing to visitors.

Although it is usually a fun event, for some homeowners Halloween can attract many uninvited guests.

If you're selling your home, first impressions really do count so it pays to make sure potential buyers are charmed by the outside of your house. If you don't bother and leave it looking like something out of a horror movie they will already be harbouring negative thoughts by the time they reach the front door.

Take a good, long look at the front approach to your home. The best view is from across the road. Does it compare well with other properties in the street or does it let the side down? Are there any repairs that need to be done such as replacing slipped tiles or slates? Make sure your home looks inviting and that it has 'kerb appeal'.

If you have a front garden tidy it up. At this time of year there are always leaves that need clearing away but there are many other garden jobs that you should keep on top of. Hedges should be tidy and lawn edges trimmed, old summer pots cleared away and maybe replaced with winter flowering plants.

Give the front door a new lick of paint in an inoffensive colour. Any signs of neglect on the outside will make potential purchasers suspicious of the inside. Do the same with the window frames if they need it and make sure the windows are clean.

Make sure that any mould or moss is removed from the path. Not only are slippery paths dangerous but they also suggest neglect.

Make sure that viewings at your home are more of a treat than a trick!

Making Moving Easier

Moving day can be stressful enough, but a bit of forethought can go a long way.

For example, many people take the opportunity to clear any unwanted junk out of their homes and lives. Charity shops, car boot sales, and friends can be grateful recipients of some items, and hiring a small skip for a couple of weeks (about £80-£120) can be liberating!

Our advice would be to have a clear-out early in the process ideally before you even put your property on the market. An uncluttered house with tidy cupboards and a clear garage all improve the presentation of your home tremendously, thereby increasing its saleability and possibly its price.

The reduced volume should also bring down your removal costs. You can bring these down further by considering if there are any bulky pieces of furniture that you are thinking of having restored. For example, your current sofa might not look right in your next home unless it is recovered. So, if you are moving locally, why not ask the upholsterer to collect the sofa a couple of weeks before moving day and deliver it, re-upholstered, to your new one?

Do make sure that you plan where larger items are going in advance. It is easy for the removers to put something like a piano in the right room, but difficult for you to move it elsewhere after they have left. As well as making sure that a piece fits in a certain place, do also find out if the access to that place is easy enough.

Finally, direct the removers to pack things you will need on the day such as children's beds, kitchen and bathroom accessories, clothes, food and work-related items last so they will be the first things to be unloaded at the other end.

Remember - planning is the key to a stress-free move!

■ MATT JOY

THE motor industry has come a long way in providing more choice than ever and it couldn't be further away from Henry Ford's original colour palette - anything, as long as it's black.

This diversity has allowed cars like the G 63 AMG to exist. If you're not familiar with the G-Class - or G-Wagen as it is often called - a little history is required to fully understand the planet it has just arrived from.

Back in the 1970s Mercedes-Benz produced a utility vehicle for the German military. It had serious off-road capability but with on-road comfort and room for a few people.

Quite sensibly, Mercedes-Benz decided that the general public might like them for the same reasons that the soldiers did and so it went on general sale.

In many ways not a great deal has happened in the intervening quarter century. Take one look at the G-Class and you can see that the design involved plenty of set squares and few ellipses; it has a relatively short wheelbase and big overhangs, pretty much the opposite of most modern cars. It also has a relatively

ENGINE: 5.5-litre petrol unit producing 544bhp

PERFORMANCE: Top speed 130mph, 0-62 in 5.4s
ECONOMY: 20.5mpg (combined)

blunt approach to aerodynamics.

Yet that is part of its huge appeal. Granted some people would describe it as ugly but I'd go completely the other way; there is a beauty in its simplicity, that it looks as tough as a bulldog and the antithesis of modern elegance.

It's turned up even more on this AMG version as this adds bigger wheels and a chunky bodykit. You couldn't mistake it for anything else, perhaps apart from when it is finished in this matte black paint and looks like an entrant in Death Race.

The delicious lunacy doesn't end there. You can have a semi-sensible G350 CDI diesel version, but it's still not cheap to buy and won't crack 30mpg even if you're really careful. So you might as well go the whole hog and plump for the AMG. Here you get the sensational 5.5-litre twin-turbocharged petrol V8 that appears in the larger AMG models and all the brilliance that goes with it.

You won't miss the exhaust note as the G 63 has quad exhaust pipes that exit just behind the front wheels to give you the full aural package. Start it up and there's a rumble of thunder, and if you blip the throttle the whole car rocks from side to side. Clunk the transmission into D and you're off.

Although the G-Class has been updated comprehensively over the years, some elements are still a reminder of its age. The flat, relatively small windows provide less light than you might be used to while the steering is relatively slow and a little vague compared to a more conventional car. But these are small details that don't dilute the G 63's appeal.

In fact, it only takes about five seconds to fall for it, which is slightly longer than it takes to get to 62mph from rest. Despite weighing over two tonnes, a prolonged squeeze of the G 63's accelerator delivers a deep-chested and relentless shove of acceleration with a spectacular growl from the engine.

It all seems so incongruous that a car of this shape and weight can leave sports cars choking on their reputation, and that makes it enormous fun.

It's not quite as spectacular through the bends, although it certainly does a good job. Stiffer AMG-specification suspension curbs excessive body roll without ruining the ride, although it's always worth remembering you're in a tall and heavy vehicle.

The G-Wagen is a unique vehicle. There are faster (just), more spacious and more comfortable SUVs - Mercedes-Benz themselves sell two of them - but to judge it with such cold, hard criteria doesn't do it justice.

It's the small details that set it apart, like the way the heavy doors shut with an indestructible thump rather than a smooth thud.

You need a fair slice of cash to be able to afford one but it's easy to see why they're so popular. Nothing

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).
Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Top Rams reignite season to leave Wanstead flat

Harlow 39
Wanstead 12
(RFU London & South East, division three north east)

THE Rams kick-started their season with a thumping 39-12 win over second-placed Wanstead side, which has set them up nicely for the trip to sixth-placed Upminster this weekend.

If Harlow can follow this up with another win, it will certainly make the rest of the teams in London division three north east sit up and take notice.

Director of rugby Lee Harron was adamant his side were good enough for promotion, and now his men need to start producing consistent performances to notch up those victories and climb the table.

An indication of their dominance against Wanstead was that in less than 40 minutes they had scored the four tries necessary for the bonus point.

The visitors, with the slope and the wind in their favour, did get back into the game in the second half but even then Harlow matched them try for try to maintain their control of the game.

This puts Harlow in 7th place in the 12-team division; a very important result as several of their closer rivals also won and without the league points and bonus point their position would have been seriously threatened.

Harlow were on the attack from the start.

Eight minutes in and the visitors were penalised for not releasing the ball and Michael Dobson coped with both rain and wind to put the ball safely over for a three-point lead.

From the restart Harlow were quickly back on the attack. Several drives by their pack were kept out before scrum-half Rhys Powell made a blind side break to touch down in the corner. Dobson was again on target for a 10-0 lead.

At the start of the second quarter when a drive was held up, the ball went to Luke Bowering at centre who cut in for a try, this time unconverted.

Wanstead managed to hold Harlow at bay almost up to half-time but then on 38 minutes a good break by Gareth Powell at outside centre produced another try, converted by Dobson.

Harlow took control immediately from the re-start and open side flanker Josh Drake scored the all important fourth try; converted by Dobson for a 29-0 lead at half-time.

For the first quarter of an hour Harlow had to defend several phases of Wanstead pressure but in the end they found a gap in the Harlow defensive line to score their first try.

From the restart Harlow responded as substitute Jamie Fricker's speed proved too much for the Wanstead defence and he ran in for an unconverted try.

With four minutes to go Wanstead broke down the Harlow defence for a try close to the posts, this time converted, cutting the score to 34-12.

Harlow responded immediately and on securing the ball, moved it to Fricker who was just in his own half. He sprinted 50 yards dodging round three defenders in the process to touch down in the corner for the try of the match.

HARLOW: Ephgrave, M. Bowering, Stonehouse, Twiner, Palmer, Roberts, Drake, Claridge, R. Powell, Dobson, Webb, L. Bowering, G. Powell, McMullen, Mackie. Replacements (all used): Prindiville, White, Fricker.

HARLOW Ladies defeated second-placed Deeping Ladies 29-5 in the RFUW National Challenge London & SE division one north on Sunday.

A drive by the Harlow pack produced the first try, credited to Julie Gilbert.

A few minutes later Amy Spearpoint went over near the posts for a second try for the hosts, which she converted for a 12-point lead.

Deeping ran in an unconverted try, making it 12-5 to Harlow at the interval.

The power of the Harlow pack was important after the break, giving the backs plenty of attacking chances.

Tries by Leah Dixon and a second by Gilbert tightened the Harlow grip on the game.

Then in the closing minutes a superb break by Gilbert saw her brush off two defenders to touch down under the posts for the most important fifth try which was necessary to secure the bonus point.

Sarah Stimpson converted to close the game at 29-5.

This put Harlow in fourth place.

HARLOW: Nathan, Boggas, Wooller, Evans, Lee, Wood, McCarthy, Gilbert, Smith, Stimpson, Sturman, McLellan (captain), O'Donnell, Tennent, Spearpoint. Subs: Dixon, McKenna, Bryant.

● ON Sunday the Hertford/Harlow Cluster U-15 Girls won 68-0 at St Neots in a league game.

Harlow girls contributed heavily to the scoring with Katie Boggas scoring three tries and converting four, while Ellie Lennon scored four tries.

Harlow's Daisy Perry enjoyed an excellent debut.

This weekend Katie and Jamie will both be playing in Essex county matches.

To join the girls team call Tracey Lee on 07890 632238.

Wonder Fell finish for Adrian at Hatfield 5K Series

HARLOW Running Club members were out and about at several events at the weekend and during the previous week.

At the Hatfield Midweek 5K Series, the third race of three, Adrian Fell finished in 22nd place out of 102 finishers in an excellent 18 minutes and 51 seconds.

He was followed home by John Tennant in 38th place and fastest veteran 60 and also the overall series Vet 60 winner.

Also achieving a PB was Paul Schroder, 350th in 1:24.12 and Wendy Spring was 6,243rd in 1:31.48.

At another very windy south coast race, Flynn finished the very hilly Eastbourne Beachy Head Marathon in 421st place out of 1,557 finishers in a creditable 4:37.19. Ladies draw with fourth-placed Havering HARLOW Ladies continued to show an upturn in form as they held fourth-placed Havering Ladies despite driving wind and rain in the Essex Women's Hockey League premier division.

The first half of the game saw Havering dominate and go two goals up, one of them deflecting off a Harlow defender.

A controversial penalty stroke was saved by Harlow keeper Sally Rowley.

Georgina Smith tapped in a goal from a cross assisted by Sandra Turner and Charlotte Byers to halve the deficit at half-time.

In the second half Harlow had some great opportunities and were certainly the dominant team with good runs and crosses.

Anita Shearman had a couple of shots blocked before the hosts equalised through Smith to make it 2-2. This was after a cross from Bethan Spencer and an assist from Byers.

Excellent defending from Petra Trimble earned her the player of the match award.

Volleyball team off to a flyer in Essex League

HARLOW Volleyball Club is celebrating a fantastic start to its Essex Men's League season.

Iliia Kalanov's team have now secured three straight 3-0 wins and top their group with six points, one ahead of second-placed Brentwood.

The latest triumph came against Billericay.

Harlow had lost each of the four games they had previously played against Billericay in the last two seasons.

"We didn't play our best match but we have played better and showed more skills in the deciding moments," said Kalanov. "We were the better team but we are still not in our best form and it's really good that we are still winning the games even when not in best shape.

FULL OF CONFIDENCE: The Harlow Volleyball Club men's team have started their season with two victories

"The team is still to show much more of it's huge abilities and I am sure that we will even improve during the season.

"In my opinion for this season our team has the abilities to win this group because we have a really good team, even that we have lost one of the players from the previous season. I am very optimistic because our team played with only 20/30 per cent of what is capable and still played well in this first game."

Previously, Harlow defeated Tendring Academy away by three sets to zero.

The team consisted of Matt Bakalarczyk, Muna Mwando, Gatis Lagzdins, Lukas Babak, Janis Kazinieks and Kalanov.

The club's ladies team have also started their Essex League campaign. If you would like to play volleyball in Harlow email harlowvolleyball@yahoo.co.uk or call 07881936597 or 07816414225.

Sponsors unveiled at Arena

HARLOW Town FC will welcome new sponsors OPT FX to the newly-branded Harlow Arena this Saturday as the Ryman League club usher in a new era which they hope will leave them playing premier division football next season.

The Hawks have a home league match against Needham Market this Saturday, and representatives from the City of London-based company will be present.

The club is excited about the partnership it has forged with the foreign exchange trading company.

The sponsorship deal represents significant progress for HTFC which has undergone vast rebuilding during the last few years, culminating in the construction of a £300,000+ artificial pitch in the summer.

Tommy Cunningham, director of HTFC said: "I am absolutely delighted. OPT FX is an established, highly successful company and I have been very impressed with its approach to the club. Its support and sponsorship provides the opportunity to continue pushing for promotion and making Harlow Town Football Club a focal point for the local community."

To coincide with the unveiling of the sponsors and the rebranding of the stadium, the club has launched a new Academy.

All training and matches will take place inside the Harlow Arena on the new 3G surface.

Trial days are coming soon.

If you are interested in coming to a trial day or a training session register your interest by using the

Muguo sees red and boss blasts ref

Cheshunt 1
Harlow Tn 1
(Ryman League, division one north)

BY DAVID RIMMER

HARLOW Town midfielder Stanley Muguo faces a three-match ban after he allegedly punched a Cheshunt player when tempers erupted shortly after the final whistle in Saturday's match at Theobalds Lane.

Muguo had to be restrained by at least one-team-mate before he was given a red card by the referee.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "Stan [Muguo] and one of their players [Max Mitchell] had words afterwards. The ref seems to think that Stan threw a punch."

Te Harlow boss also added that he had spoken to the Cheshunt player, ex-Hawks ace Mitchell, afterwards who told Chapman that a punch was not thrown at him.

Chapman said: "It is disappointing. It means that I will be without an important player for three matches."

"The ref in my opinion was the worst I have ever seen. His decisions affected both sides."

Harlow had the edge at the start and broke the deadlock on the half-hour mark.

The visitors' fourth corner was half-cleared before Robbie Martin crossed the ball back in and Danny Brown rose well at the far post to nod it across and Shane Stamp nodded in from a yard.

The Ambers' equaliser on 42 minutes had a touch of controversy. The ref had broken up an argument between a Cheshunt player and Harlow's Jonathan Glowacki before a quick throw caught the visitors' defence out.

Will Holmes was released on the left and cut in before his shot was turned away by Hawks keeper Darren Behcet, only for Joe Clemo to sweep in the rebound.

Chapman said: "The ref has allowed the throw before Jonathan could get back. It is a mistake by the referee."

Harlow missed a great chance to take the three points when Brown fired a 78th minute penalty against the crossbar and over. The spot-kick was awarded after substitute Junior Dadson was fouled by Ted Llewellyn in the box.

Late action saw Cheshunt substitute scuff the ball straight at Behcet.

Harlow are 13th in the table.
HARLOW Tn: Behcet, Glowacki, Eadie, Antoine, Brown, Blewitt, Martin, Muguo, Read (McKenzie 86), Smith (Dadson 70), Stamp. Subs not used: Curley, Mcleod-Urquhart, May.

OPENING GOAL: Harlow Town celebrate the goal scored by Shane Stamp. Inset, Stan Muguo
